Dear Mr Brinkmann,

I am writing to apply for the plumber / sanitary and heating technician position in Berlin. After seven years selling sanitary ceramics to installer partners I know the product side of the bathroom trade inside out - I can specify a WC suite, a washbasin and a shower system from memory, and I regularly spend full days at customer sites demonstrating products.

I would like to move from sales into hands-on installation work. While I have not yet carried out installations myself, I have watched hundreds of installations at trade fairs and partner sites, and I believe my product knowledge and customer communication would be an asset to your crews.

Kind regards Gordon Miles
